Jewish Charities to Open Neighborhood Home Clinic

Stray dogs in the North Dallas district will be deprived of the delicacy of small boy's teeth which have escaped the mouths of their owners unnoticed, and the same small boys need not be haunted by the fear of dog-teeth any longer. The Federated Jewish Charities will open a clinic equipped especially to take care of dental work for children, and the hesitant teeth will be removed according to most approved modern methods far less painful than the string and the door method. The clinic will be equipped also for surgical and medical work and minor operations, such as removal of tonsils and adenoids may be done. The dispensary, which is to form part of the clinic, will be located with the other rooms in the basement of the Neighborhood House, 1814 Ashland street. Dr. Julian Morris will be chairman of the staff of physicians in charge of the clinic daily from 1 to 3 p. m. The clinic is nonsectarian and can be used by all social workers of Dallas for their patients.

The hospital room has been equipped with a hospital bed large enough to satisfy the imagination of any little girl tucked away until she recovers from a tonsil operation sufficiently to be carried home. A dressing table with a mirror, where girls of more years may discover the ravages suffering has made on their beauty. Cases demanding more than one day's attention from the physician or surgeon will be out in this room. There is a general consultation room, a surgical room and a room fitted up especially for eye, ear, nose and throat work, and a room for dentistry. The clinics is to be permanent if the need for it is evident after it has been opened. Major operations will be arranged for by the staff surgeons at the various hospitals of the city. Over $500 has been spent to equip the rooms with modern instruments.

Social workers are meeting the needs and visiting homes of over 3,000 persons in this district, and the medical cases and minor surgical operations are many. Drugs will be sold at the dispensary at a nominal sum. Cases coming to the attention of any social agency or worker may be reported to Miss Anna Cohen, secretary of the Jewish Charities, for treatment.

The clinic is one of the activities conducted by the Jewish Charities with Miss Cohen as active manager. The staff of physicians and surgeons in charge of the clinic are Drs. H. R. Levy, Julian H. Morris, Albert Neuman, Cecil Black, S. M. Freedman, Harry Jablou, E. Aronson, David L. Bettison and N. W. Knowles.

NORWAY LEADS THE UNITED STATES IN MATTER OF FREE LIBRARY SERVICE.

With approximately 2,500,000 people, Norway has more than 1,300 state supported free public libraries, whereas the United States, with more than one hundred million population, has fewer than 5,000 institutions of that kind.

These facts are cited to show the need for the "Books for Everybody" movement of the American Library Association. With the fund of $2,000,000 now being raised for the movement by librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries throughout the
